

Prague travel information

Arrival by plane

If you arrive by plane at the Václav Havel airport, you can take the bus no. 119 to Nádraží Veleslavín, where you can change to metro A line (green line) towards Depo Hostivař. At the Muzeum station you need to change to metro C line (red line) towards Háje. The venue is located near the Kačerov metro station. From Kačerov, you need to take a bus, preferably no. 138 or no. 203, which stop right in front of the venue (IKEM - Institute for Clinical and Experimental Medicine). Public transport tickets must be purchased in advance before the passenger boards the bus. Tickets are sold in the Visitor Centre, at the Prague Public Transit company counters in Arrival Halls, or from ticket vending machines located throughout both terminals and directly at bus stops. Most ticket machines accept contactless credit card payments. Another option is to take the Airport Express, which connects the airport with the Prague Main Railway Station. It does not stop anywhere else and public transport tickets are not valid on this special bus line. When travelling from the airport, the Airport Express bus tickets may be purchased in the Visitor Centre at Arrival Hall or directly from the driver. You can also take a taxi, which can be booked online through the Prague Airport website: <https://www.prg.aero/en/order-taxi-service-online>.

Arrival by train

There are good train connections between Prague and other European cities. If you arrive by train, you will travel to the venue from Prague Main Railway Station. You can take metro C line (red line) in the direction Háje and at Kačerov station you need to change to one of the buses as described above.

Institute for Clinical and Experimental Medicine,
Víteňská 1958/9, Prague 4

Venue

The course will be held at the Institute for Clinical and Experimental Medicine: <https://www.ikem.cz/en/> There are currently some restrictions because of construction works, it is not allowed to enter the hospital area by car and park there. It is located near one of the Prague's largest forests and because of that you can encounter a herd of mouflons directly at the hospital (and therefore it is also not allowed to enter with dogs).

Tickets

Tickets for public transport can be purchased in the following ways:

- In information centers and selling points at most of the metro stations
- In yellow ticket vending machines at metro stations and some surface transit stops
- In newspaper shops in the whole area of Prague
